

Charades!

Learning should be fun. As we all get excited for summer break, we're going to spend our last week together playing some fun (and educational) games and test what you've learned from the previous 10 weeks.

Today's game is going to require at least two people. If you have more than two people, split up into even teams, because it's time for Charades!

HERE ARE THE RULES:

1. When it's your turn to give the clue - no talking!
2. You may use items in the room (please be careful), but you may not leave the room to get additional objects.
3. You have 45 seconds to get your teammate to guess the engineering word.
